NO CAUSE FOR WAR IS SEEN

British Foreign Secretary Speaks on African Controversy

SEES NEED OF EXPANSION

Official Pledges England's Aid in Preventing Disastrous Conflict.

By The Associated Press

LONDON July 11—Sir Samuel Hoare foreign secretary declared before the house of commons today that he did not feel Italy's need for expansion and complaints against Ethiopia were sufficient cause for plunging into war

The foreign secretary said he admitted the need of and the British understanding of Italian overseas expansion but that still such need was insufficient for hostilities

He pledged that England would not abandon any reasonable chance which may offer itself for helping prevent a disastrous war

Sir Samuel refused to divulge the lines being adopted toward this end but he nevertheless assured the legislators that there was no foundation for rumors that the government had asked the French to join a blockade against Italy or that Great Britain was preparing some isolated form of coercion

He said Great Britain was willing to accept her full share of collective responsibility and fidelity to the League of Nations and its principles

Well informed sources have said that the British government is holding up granting of export licenses for the shipment of munitions to Ethiopia.

The statement was taken as an indication that Great Britain was joining other arms manufacturing countries in withholding war materials from Ethiopia

Reports from France Czechoslovakia and Denmark previously have indicated that those nations

REPORT FILED ON AUDIT OF COUNTY BOOKS

Findings for Recovery of $45 524 Listed by State Examiners

ALL OFFICES ARE COVERED

109-Page Report Includes Period from Aug 24, 1932, to Sept 18 1934

Findings for recovery totaling $45 524 93 illegal payments aggregating $1[illegible] 44 and illegal omissions amounting to $24 206 09 are listed in a report covering the operation of Marion county offices released today by the state bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices

The report covering county records and accounts for the period Aug 24 1932 to Sept 18 1934 was made by Irvin Young examiner and W E Lau[illegible] assistant who spent several months here obtaining information for the report

In the 109 page report the examiners list and explain their findings call attention of officials to certain laws governing operation of county government which they found have not been observed and make suggestions for better handling of governmental records and accounts

Of the $45 524 93 findings for recovery $35 309 2 is due the state from Marion county for care of the county's wards and patients in state institutions for feeble minded epileptics tuberculosis patients deaf and crippled children the examiners pointing out state bills should be paid up to date every six months The examiner also found $1 456 08 due the county from the villages and townships for election expenses that should have been withheld from the districts when tax distributions were being made

Purchases Called Illegal

Expenditures totaling $12 388 44 for two road rollers a power grader road adjuster and amiesite by the county commissioners were listed by the examiner as illegal payments totaling this amount having been made although no record of purchase or contract other than the bare allowance of the bill was found" Said the examiner, 'In auditing the bills paid and checking the proceeds of bond sales into the county treasury we found a dearth of records of the same on the journal of the board of county commissioners As this is the official organ through which the board speaks officially and as they employ a clerk on a full time salary we see no valid reason why all transactions of the board should not be made a matter of record These expenditures account for all of the illegal payments

Illegal omissions found by the examiner consist principally of $21 140 04 in real estate tax penalties which Earl F Thomas when county auditor omitted from the June and December tax levies After commenting that the state legislature passed a law remitting penalties on delinquencies of former years provided taxpayers paid all taxes up to date the examiner said Auditor Thomas not to be outdone by the legislature in generosity arbitrarily and without any authority in law omitted all penalties on the 1932 duplicates Another illegal omission charged to former Auditor Thomas was

Comments on Examiners' Report

Comments of State Examiner Irvin Young in a report of an examination of county offices released today regarding the Marion County Humane Society drew an answer from James H Eymon attorney for the society who denied the examiner's opinion that the society no longer exists

When informed of the examiner's statements regarding the society Mr Eymon admitted there had been no meetings of the society possibly for two years adding that the work of the home officer and attorney are so plainly stated by law that there is little or no business for the directors and officers to transact Consequently he said there is no need for meeting

Just because there haven't been meetings is no reason for him to say the society doesn't exist Mr Eymon said

Regarding the examiner's comment that the amounts appropriated annually for Mr Eymon as the society's attorney is exhausted usually in the first six or seven months of the year Mr Eymon declared that the county for several years has been appropriating only enough money for prosecution of cases for the first half of the year I prosecute the society's cases for nothing for the remainder of the year—I've had to do so for the last five years

County Auditor Harry V Mount when asked this morning about the large total of county bills due different state institutions said approximately $3 000 has been paid on this amount this year and other payments will be made as rapidly as funds for that purpose become available.

A majority of officials involved in findings or comments of the examiner either could not be reached this morning or were not yet familiar with the examiner's report Prosecuting Attorney Paul D Michel, in whose hands any action would rest, has left the city for a vacation.

Banks' Condition Declared Best In Recent Years

Ohio Director Reports Huge Deposit Increases,, Confidence Improved

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O July 11—Sam H Squire state superintendent of banks asserted today that Ohio financial institutions are in better condition than at any time in recent years

Confidence in the banking field Squire said, is evidenced in huge increases in deposits

He declared the 463 banks operated in the state have more money than they know what to do with The bankers problem he added is to make the cash in the vault work for him

Two things are responsible for the healthy condition of our banks Squire related One is the federal deposit insurance and the other that farmers generally are getting better prices for their commodities and are paying off their loans

The agriculturists are on the road to better times and this year we think he will go even farther than he did last year to clean up his obligations

Banks Squire said have moved a long way from the days of March 1933 when all of the banks in the United States were closed and placed on a restricted basis One hundred and forty two Ohio banks were opened on a restricted basis 168 were placed in liquidation and the remainder allowed to reopen to carry on business without restriction

RUSSIA PLANS WONDER CITY

New 10-Year Plan To Make Moscow Ultra Modern Is Heralded

PROJECT IS APPROVED

Present City To Be Memorial, Most Gigantic Task of Bolshevists

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW July 11 Soviet Russia heralded today a new 10 year plan—for reconstruction of Moscow

The council of commissars and the central committee approved the project with the support of Dictator Joseph Stalin after two other proposals to meet the needs for a modern capital were rejected

One of the plans rejected would have provided for destruction of the present city and erection of a new one on the same site The other called for preservation of Moscow as a memorial and construction of a new city nearby,

The new program announced last night by Stalin to start next January will convert Moscow into an ultra modern capital for 5 000 000 inhabitants one of the most gigantic tasks undertaken by the Bolshevists The present population of Moscow is about 3 600 000

The plan includes expansion of the city area from 71 250 acres to [illegible]0 000 acres construction of boulevards replacement of antiquated buildings and erection of six hotels of 1 000 rooms each [illegible]0 movie houses 500 schools 17 hospitals and nine department stores

The famous Red Square will be doubled in size A six mile zone of forests and parks will surround the city and the banks of the Moscow and Yauza rivers will be lined with granite over their entire courses through the city

Further industrialization of Moscow was forbidden and all new factories will be outside the city limits

The government is expected to throw its full labor and equipment resources into the task pursuing the same tactics as in the Soviet's two five year industrial plans

NOTABLES TAKE STAND AT TRIAL OF DANCER

Defense Attorney Offers To Have "Artistic Dance" Demonstrated in Paris Courtroom.

By The Associated Press

PARIS July 11—Aviators painters novelists and even a zoology professor rallied to the defense of Miss Joan Warner, the American nude dancer when she went on trial today on a charge of offending the morals of Paris

At the opening of the hearing, the judge announced there would be no debate as to whether her dance, which brought down the wrath of the Association for the Increase of the French Population, was obscene or artistic.

He announced it was artistic and that the case would be based solely on the question of whether the American girl's "antics" were a danger to public morals.

The courtroom was packed The spectators heard M. Bauverat, vice-president of the plaintiff association, ask for the condemnation of all nude dancing in Paris with Miss Warner, in particular, being made an example."

Said Bauverat: "Since Hitler suppressed nude dancing in Germany, the Nazi birth rate has risen 35,000 a year."

Joan's witnesses included the famous French fliers, Paul Codos and Raymond Delmotte, the painter, Maurice Devlaminck, and the Dutch zoology professor Hoogan.

The judge banned the taking of motion pictures of the trial Then Henry Torres, the counsel for the defense, suggested that his client dance nude in the courtroom to prove "in the interests of justice" that the dance was all art

The judge however, demurred, answering "Despite the fact that it is a hot day it cannot be done, for I am afraid I would have to allow the spectators to strip too"

Torres submitted: "Miss Warner's dance in Paris is a good deal cleaner than those done in Chicago today. There is propaganda in America against tourists coming to France on the grounds that they would be contaminated. Let's set them right."

Council Indorses Engineers for Water Plant Survey; Delays Gas Rate Action

Work on Appraisal of Property To Be Started by Chicago Company Next Monday.

SEEK PUBLIC VIEW

Gas Rate Question Will Be Carried Over Until Monday, Committee Proposes Ordinance.

City council last night approved a Chicago waterworks engineering firm to begin an appraisal of Marion Water Co property for the city Monday and decided to defer action on a proposed gas rate until Monday night to give Marion residents an opportunity to pass judgment on the proposal in the meantime

The gas rate proposal calling for rates that would increase monthly bills of users of 3 000 cubic feet of gas a month by a maximum of 50 cents was given two of the three readings required by law and then carried over to the next meeting The proposal was recommended by the council utility committee as the city's final settlement offer to the Ohio Fuel Gas Co

The engineering firm approved to make the water plant survey is Charles I DeLeuw & Co, suggested by the Chicago and Cincinnati financial firms that have agreed to finance purchase of the water property if the city can get suitable terms

Council gave its approval after studying eight telegrams from as many different cities where the firm previously had been employed on public jobs Queries were sent to these cities yesterday and answers recommending the firm as having a recognized reputation for careful and efficient work were received from officials in Mundelein Parkridge Riverside Wheaton Summit Dixon Taylorville all in Illinois and Vincennes Ind

At Caucus Session

Both Mr DeLeuw and C O Miles representing McNear & Co of Chicago one of the financial firms helping to pay the costs of the water property appraisal appeared before council during part of the two and one half hour caucus session that preceded the open meeting The open business session did not start until 10 o'clock last night

Mr DeLeuw said the appraisal probably will be started Monday by two or three engineers working under direction of Joseph F Still vice president of the firm From one to three weeks of work will be required to make the appraisal he estimated

First step in the appraisal he explained will be the preparation of a complete inventory of the company's property listing every article used and useful in furnishing water service On the basis of labor and material costs in this vicinity the reproduction value of the plant will be determined depreciation will be figured with the efficiency probable future life of equipment and obsolescence taken into consideration making it possible to arrive at a valuation based on reproduction costs minus depreciation

Other Information

In addition to a thorough analysis and appraisal of the physical property the report of the engineers will include a critical examination of the operation of the plant cost of operating it gross and net incomes and other information needed to give a clear picture of its operations A comparison of rates here and elsewhere and possibly suggestions for revision of Marion rates are expected to be studied and reported by the engineers

Mr DeLeuw, head of the engineering concern said the firm specializes in municipal water, sewerage and transportation work and has handled large jobs of these classifications throughout the country. For two years he has been assistant chief highway engineer for the state of Illinois and is consulting engineer for the Illinois state commerce commission.

Before taking a final vote approving Mr. DeLeuw for the job, council was questioned by Dr F. C Smith who previously had ap-

TVA AUTHORITY IS BROADENED

Wins in House and Goes Back to Senate for Action on Amendments

ROOSEVELT PLAN WINS

Differences Between Two Bodies To Be Settled in Joint Conference

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON July 11 After eliminating every major provision objectionable to President Roosevelt the house today passed legislation to broaden the power of the Tennessee Valley authority

It now goes back to the senate for action on amendments added by the house The differences probably will be adjusted by a conference committee representing the senate and house

Already the utilities bill has been sent to conference by the senate to attempt to agree on whether to retain the provision desired by President Roosevelt to eliminate unnecessary holding companies in seven years

The house rejected this twice and the senate approved it by a one vote margin

Twice before the final TVA vote the house affirmed its action in eliminating a clause that would have given TVA a limited time in which to work out a self sustaining power development

By a 90 to 38 standing vote and again by a 274 to 102 roll call it voted down a motion by Andrews Republican of New York to send the measure back to the military committee with instructions to insert language that would have forbidden the agency after July 1 1938 to sell power and chemicals below production costs

The compromise on the utilities bill will be sought in conferences between senators and representatives The senate which unlike the house had voted for the compulsory abolition feature stuck by this stand yesterday and sent the problem to conference

The TVA bill written to bolster and broaden the valley agency's scope had been drastically rewritten by hostile house committeemen before it came to the voting stage yesterday

Swiftly the Roosevelt men succeeded in writing in these amendments

To delete a clause saying TVA must sell power or chemicals at not less than cost after July 1 1937 Passed 98 to 67

To let TVA operate without absolute control by the comptroller general over its expenditures Passed 1[illegible] to 120

To delete a section preventing the agency from constructing power lines paralleling existing private ones Passed 137 to 11[illegible]

To let the authority decide

LAURA INGALLS OFF ON EAST-WEST HOP

Woman Flier Angry Because Cross Country Flight Started in Cross Wind

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK July 11—Angry because she had to take off in a cross wind Laura Ingalls roared toward Burbank Calif today in a low winged monoplane with the hope of setting a transcontinental speed record for women

Her plane lifted from Floyd Bennett airport at 4 31 30 a m after a run of 2 500 feet on a 3 100 foot runway The trip if successful will be the first east-to-west non stop flight by a woman The women's transcontinental record of 17 hours 7 minutes and 30 seconds was set west-to-east by Amelia Earhart on July 8, 1933 Prevailing winds favor the west-to-east flights

When Miss Ingalls arrived at the airport to supervise the loading of her plane more than two hours before the takeoff, she proposed to nose her plane directly into the wind on the long runway toward the airport's buildings

Because of the plane's heavy load, F William Zelcer, aviation commissioner of New York, forbade her to use the long runway. The flier turned angrily to Captain Kenneth Behr, manager of the airport and official timer for the NAA, and complained:

"I can't express myself It's unfair"

Her plane was equipped with a radio compass and she planned to follow the radio beams of the TWA transport route which would take her over Pittsburgh, Columbus, Indianapolis, Kansas City and Albuquerque, N. M

Plant Purchase Plan Explained To Civic Club

Engineer and Head of Financial Firm Speak at Meeting

Members of the Marion Civic club and representatives of the Citizens Utility committee heard an outline of the progress and the present status of the city's negotiations to purchase the property of the Marion Water Co, at a meeting last night in the office of J W Jacoby The speakers were C O Miles a representative of C W McNear & Co Chicago financial firm which with a Cincinnati firm has a contract with the city to finance the purchase of the plant and Charles I De Leuw, head of the Charles DeLeuw & Co, Chicago engineering firm The meeting was held after Mr Miles and Mr DeLeuw had met in caucus with members of city council who approved the selection of the DeLeuw firm to make a survey of the water company property

Explains Position

Mr Miles in explaining the position of the financial firms in the water plant negotiations told club members the McNear company and the firm of Walter Woody & Heimerdinger of Cincinnati are interested in the deal solely as bankers He said that the water revenue bonds the firms would finance are to be paid only from the revenue the city would derive from the sale of water to Marion citizens and that there would be no taxation to meet the bond payments The city runs absolutely no chance he said He pointed out that the financial firms will handle the water revenue bonds at an interest rate of four and one half per cent

Mr Miles explained that by the terms of the contract with the city, the firms reserve the right to refuse the loan if they find that the purchase price is set too high for the revenue from the plant to amortize the bonds and make the city a profit

In explaining why a thorough survey of the water company property is essential in determining a fair purchase price Mr Miles said that 65 per cent of the value of the plant is under

BOMB WRECKS HOME OF ADAMS CO. JUDGE

Jurist Believes Blast Set Off in Revenge For Sentence.

By The Associated Press

WEST UNION, O, July 11—An explosion, attributed to dynamite, today badly damaged the home at nearby Peebles of Common Pleas Judge J. R. B Kessler of Adams county The house was unoccupied at the time and no one was injured Judge Kessler and his wife have alternated between homes in West Union and Peebles since his appointment to the bench to succeed Will B. Stephenson, elevated to the Ohio supreme court.

Sheriff George Baldridge said the bomber evidently believed the judge to be at home, however, since the explosive was set below the window of the bedroom the jurist and his wife usually occupy.

The explosion tore out one side of the two-story frame structure, and smashed all the windows. Judge Kessler, the sheriff said, expressed himself at a loss to explain the bombing He was able the sheriff said, to ascribe only to a grudge against him arising from a sentence or sentences he may have imposed in court

Residents of the village, awakened by the blast, seized arms and hurried to the village bank in belief an attempt had been made to blow open its vault.

EXAMINERS REPORT ON COUNTY OFFICES

failure of the deputy sealer of weights and measures to collect for his services fees which would have placed $64.76 in the county treasury.

In the list of 99 findings for recovery, many findings against officials or other individuals or concerns are for small amounts resulting from errors in bookkeeping or misunderstandings of certain laws governing the handling of public business. Many of them do not involve individuals but are made against one subdivision in favor of another.

City Owes County

For example, it was found that the city of Marion owes the county $527.50 for care of city prisoners in the county jail, the examiner recommending that the commissioners instruct the sheriff to refuse to take additional city prisoners until overdue bills have been met.

Another finding, result of an error, was that $1,153.42 of Tully township school district tax money was paid to Caledonia village school district because of a mistake in apportioning the property of the T. & O. C. railroad in Tully township among the taxing districts.

For failure to observe legal limitations in the appropriations for the dog warden's salary and for dog tags and incidental supplies for the county auditor, the commissioners were named "jointly and severally" in a finding for $760.37 in favor of the county. The examiners added the commissioners were notified of the finding "but evidenced no disposition to pay the same."

It was found that $2,098.43 is due the county from closed banks or bondsmen who secured county deposits in those institutions for interest from the date the banks were closed.

Findings for Burials

Findings totaling $300 against two Marion undertaking firms were made because the county had paid for burial of three persons presumed to be indigent but whose estates were shown in probate court to include sufficient money to meet their burial expenses. In the cases of two of the three burials, the examiners assert he obtained information that the undertaking firm received payment from both the county and the estate of the person buried.

A finding for $156.59 for errors in accounting when he was fair board secretary was made against C. G. Ritzler. It is shown that this amount was repaid to the county agricultural society by Mr. Ritzler.

In setting up condensed accounts for all county offices and departments, the examiners commented on the manner in which the officials kept their records and whether laws governing their duties were observed.

The commissioners, according to the report, "ignored the plain provisions of the law" regarding certain investigations they are required to make in mortgage securities accepted by them to secure county funds on deposit in banks. "We are disposed to think," the report states, "that the board of county commissioners did not familiarize themselves with (certain) provisions of the law, but proceeded blindly in the execution of one of the most important duties, that of safeguarding the public funds, they have to perform." The report suggests the law be followed closely in the future.

Bonds Not Located

The examiners also commented that only one of the four original personal bonds given the county to secure county funds on deposits in banks that are now closed can be found and state that the deposits of the county in closed banks as of Feb. 25, 1935, amounted to $70,213.53.

The county's debt as of Sept. 26, 1934, is shown to be $[illegible], including $[illegible] in poor relief bonds, $[illegible] in road bonds and $[illegible] in Harding Memorial hospital bonds.

The examiners commented that in the nearly two years covered by the report the county spent $[illegible] for use of privately owned automobiles in the discharge of public and official business. They also found that 412 gasoline coupon books costing a total of $4,066 were paid for by the county in the same period, including 112 books used by persons not listed in the county records.

"These books," the examiners continued, "represented the sum of $4,066 in cash to be used for the purchase of gasoline, yet no one had kept any record of whom they had been delivered to be expended. We asked for the backs or coverings of books and none were produced out of a total of 412 purchased."

The report continued: "$4,066 divided by 16½ cents, which a dealer estimated to be an average price less 1 cent a gallon federal tax for gasoline during the period covered by this report, would produce 24,785 gallons of gasoline which, on an average of 15 miles to the gallon, would enable you to encircle the earth at the equator 14.8 times. In addition, the county paid $4,232.13 for bulk gasoline.

Suggests Change

"We hereby instruct the board of county commissioners that if the use of coupon books is to be continued, we want a record kept of all received, and the receipt taken from the individual to whom delivered. We also insist that all covers be returned and preserved, to be checked against the bills paid for same."

The examiners listed a series of errors in addition and duplications in payments of bills, "showing that the same had not received the proper attention, both in the preparation to the board for approval and by the board itself before approving same. We would suggest that the clerk exercise more care in checking for duplications of bills presented, as well as proving additions."

The examiner commented on the fact that Clifford Swisher, former deputy sealer of weights and measures when Earl E. Thomas was county auditor, spent most of his time at work as a clerk in the auditor's office. Mr. Swisher, who since has been employed solely as bookkeeper in the auditor's office, "devoted a very small portion of his time to the duties of a deputy sealer... much less, we would think, than conditions require," the examiners stated. They added they found that Mr. Swisher had worked only 132 days in three years as deputy sealer and was paid at the rate of $45.26 a day for the days he spent on his work as deputy sealer. "We are not trying to make it appear that Mr. Swisher did not earn the compensation he received, but are trying to show that he was paid for services rendered as a clerk in the auditor's office from an appropriation that was made for an entirely different purpose, which was a violation of the law governing the appropriation and expenditure of public funds," the examiners stated.

It was suggested that the $5,000 bonds furnished by County Commissioners J. O. Weiss and Leo J. Cusic are at fault because they do not contain the language assuring "the faithful discharge of his official duties and for the payment of any loss or damage that the county may sustain by reason of his failure therein."

The examiners reported finding the county treasurer's records kept neatly and in order and, "what is more important," correctly.

Dog License Revenue

The examiners pointed out that revenue from the sale of dog licenses decreased steadily in recent years. They added, "It will readily be seen that there was either a letup on the part of Mr. (Dale) Rhoads (former county dog warden) in his official activities or an epidemic of distemper affecting the dogs of Marion county, extending over a period of the last five years and growing more virulent with each year."

Regarding the county home, the examiner found that from Nov. 5, 1932, to Aug. 25, 1934, there was purchased for the home $979 worth of eggs, chickens, potatoes and corn, adding, "It seems to us this should have been produced on the county home farm of 230 acres of improved land."

They found that in the period of nearly two years covered by the report that Dr. F. V. Murphy, county home physician, received $9,587.35 for medical services for county home patients. They reported he made 131 calls at the county home in 1933 and prescribed for an average of more than 30 patients each trip, adding, "This would be 40 per cent of the inmates under the physician's care all the time."

In making a finding for recovery of $31.23 in favor of the county and against William E. Marks, former police chief, the examiners explained this was for more than "actual and necessary" expenses in taking prisoners to the Columbus workhouse. They gave as an example of the apparent policy of traveling expense, the expenditure of $9.58, including $2 taxi fees for police in making charges for taking one prisoner to the workhouse, adding, "we are informed that such trips were invariably made by auto (instead of train). Why they should charge the cost of operating an automobile as passenger fare on a railway train, or include a charge of $2 as taxi fare when none was needed or used as actual and necessary expense is beyond me."

Finding for Difference

The instance in which the examiners made the finding against Mr. Marks was a trip to Steubenville, O., to bring three prisoners to Marion in which case $63.63 was charged as expenses. The examiners found the legitimate charge of the trip was $33.40 and made the finding against Mr. Marks for the difference.

The examiners suggested "that in the interest of all concerned, the county commissioners request the Marion Academy of Medicine to draw up a form of contract covering the services of a physician at each county institution under their jurisdiction and then advertise for bids" after commenting that a number of the forms of service rendered by Dr. Murphy as county jail physician are not mentioned in his contract with the county, leaving him free to make any reasonable charge he sees fit for these.

They suggested that the $10,000 bond of County Surveyor Carl H. Tozzer is higher than need be, pointing out that a minimum of $2,000 bond is permitted by law. The latter figure "is all that was required from either C. R. Leavens or C. C. Caldwell (former surveyors) and we can see no reason for increasing the same to $10,000 on Carl H. Tozzer as was done by the former board of county commissioners consisting of W. M. King, O. W. Kinnamon and O. C. McCurdy."

In their comments on the county board of elections, the examiners said, "We find that each and every member (of the county board of elections) and the clerk, although the best paid of any in the county, considering the work performed, continued to draw full compensation to March 1, 1934, when, under the law they were compelled to accept the reduction. We also find that the assistant clerk drew monthly compensation in the sum of $150 during the entire period of this examination."

IN DANGER

Dr. K. C. Bergman (above), and his family are among Americans ordered to leave Abyssinia by U. S. to remove them from danger during war Italy will wage on Ethiopians. He's Seventh Day Adventist medical missionary from Los Angeles.

Humane Society

Regarding the county humane society, the examiners said, "... Mr. E. H. Raffensperger stated that he was supposed to be the president of the organization, but that to the best of his knowledge, no meetings had been held in the last two years. Mr. William L. Stump stated he was a member of the society, but could not recall when he last attended a meeting of the board of directors. ...We were informed by James Ullom that L. D. Zachman was the secretary and treasurer and that he had removed from the county.

"From the information furnished we are of the opinion that the Marion County Humane Society has ceased to function and as a consequence thereof no longer exists. We are therefore compelled to hold that any future payments from the county treasury as salary of the humane agent is not warranted by law. We would further hold that due to the failure of this society to function, there is no authority for the employment of an attorney, and all such cases brought in the city of Marion's municipal court should be prosecuted by the city solicitor."

After pointing out that from Jan. 1, 1933, to June 27, 1934, there was paid $560 to James H. Eymon and $20 to Homer E. Johnson as attorneys to prosecute cases for the society, the examiners stated: "A feature worthy of note is the fact that the total amount appropriated is exhausted usually in the first six or seven months of the year."

Humane Society Statement

The examiners reported that James Ullom in 1932 received $500 for his services as humane officer and that since then his salary has been $720 a year. They found that in addition to his duties as humane officer, he acted as receiving and disbursing agent for all alimony and non-support ordered paid by the common pleas court.

"We secured," the examiners said, "Mr. Ullom's records and attempted to make an audit of them, but owing to the manner in which they had been kept, were unable to do so. We found, from his cancelled checks, that during the period from Aug. 24, 1932, to June 25, 1934, he had disbursed $15,243.61. Since June 25, 1934, he had discontinued payment by check and paid in cash only. The total amount of his receipts we were unable to determine, but find the sum of $1,046 was paid to him from the county treasury for the support of dependents of persons confined in the Columbus workhouse.

"While we do not doubt, for one second, Mr. Ullom's honesty, we do feel that, in fairness to the interested parties of both sides, the further continuance of this matter under his management is unwise."

The [illegible] early copper pennies, the copper nickel or white pennies as they were called between 1856 and the [illegible] the Indian head pennies and all the Lincoln head are all found in the penny collection.

When mailing and registration fees are paid your penny will have cost you about 20 cents but it will be uncirculated and unmarred. New pennies from banks are often scratched or marred through transit.

Mr Bondley is also a collector of Indian relics and his collection of arrowheads and trinkets is one of the finest in Marion. He has been pursuing his hobby ever since he was a boy and has obtained most of the pieces himself. Mr Bondley does not enjoy buying specimens outright. He prefers to find the relics himself and purchase new coins direct from the mint rather than from dealers. He is a life member in the Ohio Historical and Archeological society. He has been employed at the Marion postoffice since 1904. He began as a mail carrier and is now stamp clerk.

Married Comrades

Mary Explains to Madge How She Eluded Gaze of Man on Lattice Outside Window

"I DIDN'T sleep very well last night," Mary began as she tucked herself into a corner of my chaise lounge which I had indicated to her as being the seat farthest away from my dressing table and my preparations for the journey to New Hampshire upon which we must start in the next hour. "I don't know why but I was restless all night. So I was wide awake when I first heard the queer noise outside my window.

"That was the reason I knew I wasn't dreaming something fantastic," she went on. "If I'd been asleep and the noise had wakened me I wouldn't be sure. But I couldn't mistake that slow creeping movement outside for anything else but someone climbing that rose lattice. You know how strong it is and this man when I finally saw him was as slim as a young boy. He couldn't weigh very much.

Mary Not Afraid

"I wasn't afraid of his getting in," she said, "for those iron bars across my window—the ones you had put on when we had that Chinese scare—are very strong as you know. But humans crawling at night where they have no business to be give me the jitters. As I was pretty sure the thing outside wasn't an animal I decided to find out just what was doing."

She drew a long breath, adjusted herself to a more comfortable position on the couch and put her beautiful slender arms above her head. So absorbed was I in her story that it was only with difficulty that I hatched my face and hands combed and arranged my hair and put on the traveling attire I intended to wear during the journey.

"You know I'm a regular cat in the dark," she said after a few seconds of silence.

"Indeed yes," I returned for we have often remarked on Mary's ability to find things in an unlighted room. I do not think it is so much the quality of her eyes as of her brain. She has amused herself by training her various muscles to function when her eyes are shut and as a result she does some almost uncanny things sometimes when she chooses to give an exhibition of her prowess.

Dons Dark Clothing

"So," she went on, a gamin grin touching the corners of her lovely mouth, "I slid out of bed to the floor and crawled to my closet. There I shut myself in until I was in dark clothing from head to foot—dark bathrobe, slippers and the dark scarf tied over my head and draped over my face. I even put on dark gloves—but I'd taken them off when I called to you.

"Then I took my flashlight—it's a powerful one—and crept to the window staying just below it and listening to the noises outside. Finally the creeping stopped just outside my window and I actually could hear the creature breathe as he tried to balance himself and look into the room.

Uses Flashlight

"He was so near that I could tell his every movement, almost his every breath. I don't mind telling you I was a bit shaky as I reared myself up level with the sill trying to remember all the training in noiseless movements I've had. Then with one hand holding the scarf so that only my eyes were not hidden I leveled the flashlight into the darkness with the other hand I pressed the bulb."

Her voice trailed off into a half hysterical giggle.

"I don't know who was more scared, he or I," she said when her laughter had died away. "His ugly phiz was hardly two feet away from mine only, of course, he couldn't see anything but a gloved hand if he could see that.

Mary Is Puzzled

"I didn't count on scaring him quite so badly," she went on with a reminiscent shudder. "For a split second or two I thought he was going to fall off the rose lattice. His hands opened and he reeled. But he clutched at the lattice again just in time and held himself there until he had his balance again. Then the way he streaked it down that lattice was a caution. It's a wonder he didn't rouse the house."

"He's roused your uncle," I told her. "We'll no doubt hear that he's been captured before we start on our journey."

"That's a consummation devoutly to be desired," she said. "He certainly wouldn't be a very agreeable trailer if that's what he's doing. But why in the world, Auntie Madge, should a chromo like that want to snoop around here?"

CHAPTER NINETEEN

Week End

"AND of course it was kept a dead secret?" asked Mr Drake.

"They said rumors got about," replied Laurie, "but we wanted to keep it a secret until he came back."

"I understand. You were afraid of the press. It wasn't their business. It is extremely kind of you to tell me all this," he said gravely. "I wish you could remember the name of the minister who married you. But of course they can easily find out. Somebody from the office will make a little pilgrimage out there. How far did you say it was from your old home?"

Laurie prayed for the return of her wits as she had never prayed for anything before.

"About twenty miles."

"And the name of your old house?"

"Ferrdew Farm—on the Targa ta Road."

"Do your people still live there, Mrs Moore?"

"Oh no. My father is dead. My mother died long ago. My only sister is here with me. I have nobody left in Australia."

"And you were in Sydney when you heard the sad news of your husband's crash?"

"Yes. I stayed on there."

"And after your husband's supposed death you revealed yourself?"

"Yes." After that it was easy enough to repeat the recital that she had made so often of her discovery by the Albery firm and her voyage to England through their kindness and her subsequent work in the London offices.

Then the young man asked a question that roused her temper.

"Could you just give me a few words about how you felt when you had the news of your husband's return the other day?"

"No. I certainly could not," she flashed and the young man answered in a rebuked voice.

"Of course. I quite understand. Such moments are sacred and cannot be revealed to the public."

He got up and thanked her and took his leave and left her hardly able to stand and biting her lips in an effort to force back an attack of hysterics. Her common sense had entirely deserted her.

How could she have been so mad? What could she do to stop that young man? Nothing. She could hardly even remember what she had told him but she knew that they were a pack of clumsy lies.

Why hadn't she said they had been married in Sydney, a big town where she was a stranger? She might easily have forgotten all details about that. But near her own home—here they would go and make inquiries. She had made a hopeless mess of things. She had given the whole show away.

"Well it was Rex Moore's fault," she told herself and worked herself into a state of indignation. He ought to have thought of such a thing. He knew all about newspapermen. He ought to have prepared her with a proper packet of lies.

But when she was in bed that night in the flat and everything was quiet and dark she lay and saw Rex Moore's shining eyes staring at her and his angry mouth smiling mockingly and his impatient shoulders shaken with the brusque gesture of contempt. She was terribly afraid.

Mark Albery did not come to the office for the next three days. He was at his country place in Cambridgeshire. According to a custom of Miss Dixie's time Laurie could have stayed away altogether. But she had a lot of notes to transcribe and papers to arrange and file and she worked each morning.

Gladys was out in the mornings but came back to the midday meal. They had not started rehearsing yet but she went to the practice room that the manager had hired in a tall old building near Covent Garden.

Laurie was more at ease about Glad. There was no sign of the young man who had given her the cigaret case. In the afternoon she took her sister into the parks and they strolled among the flowers and listened to the band. And in the evenings they went to the pictures. Laurie wanted to keep Glad amused.

And then on the Saturday morning at breakfast came a surprise.

Mr Albery rang up from Cambridgeshire and invited Laurie and Glad to come down for the week end. He excused himself for perhaps spoiling his secretary's plans but he found that he would have to get in some work in the mornings. It would be very kind if Mrs Moore would give up her Sunday. The work was important. There were one or two people staying in the house and he would see to it that Miss Gladys was kept amused.

Laurie was excited and pleased. The keen edge had worn off the extraordinary scene in the office of last Tuesday. She had not seen her employer since. She had thought about it of course not once but many times.

Violent criticism is being leveled at President Roosevelt's plan for passing the Guffey Snyder coal control bill and letting the supreme court determine the ultimate question of constitutionality. Three assumptions underlie the criticism.

The first is that President Roosevelt knows the bill is unconstitutional and therefore wants to coerce the supreme court into giving an unpopular opinion. The second is that the unpopular opinion would give the new [illegible] a campaign issue in the form of a request for broader authority to control business. The third is that President Roosevelt is attacking the Constitution by seeking to amend it.

Each of the assumptions carries with it a charge of bad intentions. Mr Roosevelt, say his critics, should recommend no legislation whose constitutionality is not above question. He should not, moreover, use the supreme court for the means of producing a political issue. Last, he should not question the adequacy of the Constitution.

There is another way of looking at President Roosevelt's plan for the Guffey Snyder bill. Fairness demands that it be considered.

Mr Roosevelt was not satisfied with the decision against the recovery act in the Schechter case. The Guffey Snyder bill, he believes, would enable the supreme court to clarify further its interpretation of federal authority over business not plainly in interstate commerce. Thereby the issue he entertains in his own mind would be defined for the public mind.

There is nothing in law or custom to prevent agitation for amending the Constitution. President Roosevelt merely has chosen to take a course which might lead to the issue of a constitutional amendment through forcing the supreme court to define that issue in its decision on a test law. It is not an unheard of plan by any means. Due to the fact that Mr Roosevelt no longer exercises the power of an autocrat over congress, it cannot even be called a dangerous plan. Congress can block it at the outset if it so desires.

At Their Posts

American missionaries in Abyssinia warned by the United States government to leave that country in view of the trouble foreseen if Italy carries out its threat of invasion have replied they will stay at their posts.

Doubtless they view departure as a failure to perform their Christian duty. Their steadfastness is admirable. But it may prove unfortunate and indiscreet nevertheless.

They are American citizens. If it could be made perfectly clear to them, to Ethiopians, to Italians and to their friends and sympathizers in this country that they have foregone their government's protection, no embarrassment possibly could result from their decision to remain in Abyssinia.

It rarely turns out that way, however. Usually any act of violence affecting Americans abroad is seized upon by a group of thoughtless patriots at home as an excuse for indignation. At the same time hostile patriots abroad are likely to be careless of the rights of neutrality on which foreigners are standing for protection.

Complications

Why is Austria paving the way for return of the Hapsburgs and enthronement of Archduke Otto?

Apparently because some 2000 miles away on the eastern coast of Africa the Negro race is preparing to make a last stand against [illegible] of the white man on its continent. Behind that motive some believe may be the threat of Mongolian [illegible] exploitation of the dark continent.

In Europe Germany wants Austria. Italy, which needs Austria as protection against invasion from the north, is pledged to preserve Austria. [illegible] Italy has weakened itself by [illegible] Africa. Austria [illegible] with [illegible] independent on [illegible] restoring the monarchy as an [illegible] for the [illegible] of Nazi influence. Germany [illegible] believes is ready to make a bid for Austrian [illegible].

[illegible] whose people have the Hapsburgs [illegible] to declare [illegible] Archduke Otto [illegible] throned. Behind those three governments stands France, and with France [illegible] Russia and beyond [illegible] of Nazi Germany [illegible]. Handsome Archduke Otto [illegible] personal [illegible] than a symbol of monarchy, holds in his soft hands the key to more security [illegible] [illegible].

White House Triumvirate

It is reported from Washington that President Roosevelt is disturbed over the fact the trend of current news is against instead of with his administration. Starting with his ill-advised statement on the Schechter decision and continuing through his message on new taxes and the unsuccessful effort to get the holding company bill through the house of representatives, Mr Roosevelt has been getting what politicians call a bad press.

The President should be able to understand that the fault does not rest with the press but in the condition which the press is describing. He should not mistake the symptom for the illness. If he does not like the effect he should trace it to the cause. An interesting hint has been offered which may help him to diagnose the trouble.

His confidential secretary, Louis McHenry Howe, is seriously ill. For five months Mr Howe has been inactive. Why does that seem important to certain men whose job consists in trying to understand cause and effect in politics?

The answer is that Mr Howe for many years has been Mr Roosevelt's most trusted adviser. It has been his job to guide the political footsteps of a man who, according to his friends, is more capable of conceiving ideas than of conceiving the practical methods whereby ideas are translated from theory to fact. Mr Howe, a strict realist, has played the role of stabilizer in the Roosevelt family.

President Roosevelt cannot restore his trusted friend's health. He cannot find a substitute for Mr Howe, whose relationship to him is personal. He can conduct himself, however, as he would need to conduct himself to get Mr Howe's approval. Surely years of intimacy have taught him why his secretary was valuable to him and to Mrs Roosevelt, the other member of the White House triumvirate. In Washington there is a strong impression that if Mr Howe were active the President would not be worrying about the effect of his recent series of political blunders. They would not have occurred.

Stand-In.

Americans know all about the moving picture studio stand-in, that nameless drudge who endures the heat while cameramen adjust their equipment for the star who takes his or her place when everything is ready. But there is a new kind of stand-in now.

Adolf Hitler has one, a double (possibly the same fellow who recently appeared in France) whose function is to appear for the reichsfuehrer in public ceremonies. The deception worked the first time it was tried, though Herr Hitler himself graciously appeared later.

The idea seems sound, dictatorship being the job it is. For that matter many political leaders who do not enjoy the prerogatives of dictators might like to employ a stand-in. Assassination is a constant and nasty threat to endure as the price of prominence.

It is for an entirely different reason, however, that Chancellor Hitler's stand-in is getting this particular bit of gratuitous press agentry. How is one to feel sure that a man capable of fooling German crowds is not also capable of fooling the real Adolf? What would happen if one day the imitation [illegible] were to give orders for the execution of the real one? Germany might get so upset trying to decide which to do it would get rid of both just to make sure there was no mistake. [illegible] this be a mess?

Behind The News In

Washington And Wall Street

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The White House dog house has filled up rapidly on occasions. Among those who are reported to have been seen entering it lately for a rest from presidential petting are:

Commerce Secretary Roper. His misery is his subordinates. Bickerings and resignations appear to be continuous among them. One of two steps is contemplated. The administration will either have to buy soft boxing gloves so the subordinates will not hurt each other or else get a new administrator as referee. If a new administrator is decided on he will be one who is a more distinct personification of commerce.

Chairman Kennedy of the securities exchange commission. He is supposed to have favored permitting banks to resume the underwriting of securities. This is an amended provision of the new bank bill which the President opposes. It is understood Mr Kennedy recently got back on the right side of this issue, which means he is about king high around the White House whereas he formerly was ace.

Prof Moley, the original and best brain truster, whose views are less left-wingish than current policies, although he is not in personal disfavor.

Changes

Peeking inside at the official family you will see these recent changes:

State Secretary Hull appears to have emerged as top man in anything pertaining to his sphere. He has demonstrated that he has principles and he has maintained them consistently.

Almost equally strong in White House favor is Agricultural Secretary Wallace. He is an entirely different type. His principles have had to be altered from time to time but he is respected for his sincerity.

Increasing prominence at the presidential hearth has been gained by Attorney General Cummings. This is partly due to the expanding legal aspects of the new deal. But more than that, Mr Cummings has learned how to say no as well as yes, which makes his advice worth more.

Spontaneous Combustion

White House insiders are investigating to find out the origin of that bank bill amendment to permit banks to reenter the securities underwriting field. The subject was not directly mentioned in the hearings. So far as the public record now shows no one advocated such an amendment. Yet when the bill came out of the senate banking committee the amendment was in it.

The last heard on that subject was [illegible] ago when Winthrop Aldrich, president of Chase National, told the same senate committee that security affiliates should be abolished. They were in the bank bill of that year.

You may now rest assured they will not be in the final form of the new bank bill.

Omen

BY JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, July 11—Most of the leading New York banks are also trust companies. They value their trust business highly and in the past two years—when Washington seemed to be giving them too rough a ride—several of them have given more than casual thought to the possibility of chucking the headaches of commercial banking and restricting themselves to calmer trust waters. Trust activities being purely intrastate—offered an appealing shelter from federal interference.

Now these institutions find they are threatened with a smartly conceived flank attack. Coordinator Joseph B. Eastman is lining up an impressive array of statistics to prove that the railroads pay them too much in fees for acting as trustee, transfer agents, etc. He wants the roads to break off these relations with the big banks and set up trust companies of their own to perform the same services at a nominal charge. There's no doubt this would save the roads a lot of money—but to the banks it's hitting below the belt. The railroads are among their most profitable customers.

Worse still, there are rumblings that Mr Eastman has a far reaching plan in the back of his mind to suggest that industrial corporations do the same thing. If this should ever work out it would be a lethal wallop at income from trust departments. It isn't entirely irrelevant to note that the New York institution which would take the worst beating have hardly been New Deal enthusiasts. Worried bankers may not think much of Roosevelt's ethics but they do admit his ingenuity at thinking up ways to make them uncomfortable.

Easier

But danger from this quarter is still remote and there's more cheerful news at hand for the banks to celebrate. After two years of involved bickering, Federal Judge Mack in the New York district has at last decided that the banks which loaned Sam Insull money shortly before the collapse of his empire have a clear title to the collateral Insull put up—which other creditors have contended was improperly pledged. The ruling will probably be appealed but the banks are confident of winning all the way through.

The decision is much more important than it looks on the surface. The whole principle of collateral loans is involved. If the banks had lost it would have meant they had a terrific responsibility for tracing the complete history of every security offered them as the basis for a loan. In self-defense they would have had to require exhaustive proof from borrowers that no strings were attached to securities offered. A collateral loan isn't worth a hoot to a bank if there's any doubt about its power to foreclose in case of default. The result would have been tighter credit than ever.

It's a great load off bank officers' minds to know they can take a borrower's word for it that he has the right to pledge the collateral he offers without conducting an inquisition. This will make life easier for borrowers too.

Conservatives are delighted with the way the tax debate is working out. The [illegible] the public can soon be educated to realize that levies confined to the rich are futile as revenue producers. One that points is registered they believe the popular reaction to the pain of paying as you go will put a speedy end to Santa Claus experiment.

Villain

Engineers in charge of the Passamaquoddy power project are discovering they have a huge collection of complications on their hands.

The building of the dam itself will be the least of their troubles. The population of the Maine villages of Lubec and Eastport about [illegible] 000 probably will be more than trebled by the importation of workers and camp followers. All arrangements must be made for this army—housing, feeding, water supply, power supply, sewage disposal, policing, etc. before anything can be done on the project itself. These details will keep the planning staff on the jump for several months.

The real villain of Passamaquoddy may turn out to be—not Thomas Corcoran—but Comptroller General McCarl. Unless he approves the voucher nobody will get paid and insiders get word that he might choose to get tough.

Boos

New Yorkers credit Congressman Hamilton Fish with canny politics in his move to get the soldiers' bonus paid out of work relief funds. What could be sweeter—from the Republican standpoint—than to force the Democrats' hand on the issue and get it out of the way before the G. O. P. comes back to power.

And at the same time what a happy boost for Mr Fish's presidential (or vice presidential) aspirations to appear again as the stalwart champion of the downtrodden veteran. Ham can't lose no matter what happens.

Sidelights

Big business is working up an effective radio technique for the purpose of influencing legislation. The boys owe at least a nod of thanks to Father Coughlin for showing them the possibilities. The securities exchange commission staff is due for rapid multiplication when the holding company bill becomes law. European bankers are in earnest about putting the screws on speculators who sell the franc short. A [illegible] of easy money hunters are slated to end in bankruptcy.

Il Duce Determined To Settle Conflict

By The Associated Press

ROME July 11—Premier Mussolini's reiteration of Italy's determination to seek a complete solution of the conflict with Ethiopia was revealed today

His statement of determination was made yesterday to 120 generals and superior officers of a black shirt division leaving shortly for East Africa

Il Duce spoke to them behind closed doors in the Hall of Battles in Venzia Palace He said that Italy as a great power could not continue allowing herself to be wounded by provocations of Ethiopia

Italian officials fired the nation to new anger today with publication of reports of two more incidents of Ethiopian aggression

An official communique said the Italian consul at Harrar Ethiopia was insulted and menaced July 6 and an Eritrean soldier attached to the consulate was clubbed and stoned by 20 Ethiopians A protest was lodged at Addis Ababa

The government spokesman hastened to give assurance that the new incident, though demonstrative of the increasing intolerable Ethiopian influence will not necessarily set a spark to the East African powder keg

SCIENTIST ANNOUNCE IMPORTANT FINDINGS

Inventor Claims Projects, Long Sought, Disproof of Relativity

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK July 11 — The scientific world cocked an eye today for proof of three claims made by Nikola Tesla Yugoslav inventor who just turned 79

Dr Tesla announcing that he was taking the place of the late Thomas A Edison as a popular symbol of scientific advance claimed a new method and apparatus for transmitting mechanical energy any terrestrial distance one way induction current of varying flux without a commutator and proof that much of the theory of relativity is false

Truly amazing if proofs are forthcoming to verify them commented Dr Henry A. Barton director of the American Institute of Physics Projects such as these have been envisioned for many years and scientists the world over have been unable to bring them to fruition

Dr Tesla offered no proof of his claims as he made them in a six hour dinner press conference yesterday

He asserted that his new means of energy transmission would make possible a communications system which would keep a ship on its true course in any weather and would enable geologists to divine mineral deposits from the earth's surface with more accuracy than has been heretofore possible

Direct current without a commutator he said would revolutionize power for automobiles if practical engineers can carry out his findings He said he studied cosmic rays to learn that the theory of relativity has been what he long considered it— a beggar dressed in purple which the ignorant mistake for a king

Rev Harold Halleman of Columbia Station a suburb of Cleveland today was [illegible] the pastorate of the Fite Memorial Baptist church

Rev Halleman is [illegible] and the father of [illegible] 10 years of age

He preached three trial sermons at the church and intimated that he would accept an invitation to the pastorate [illegible] It was unanimous

It is expected that he will come to Marion to deliver his first sermon as pastor on Sunday July 21

COUNCIL APPROVES SURVEY ENGINEERS

peared before council to discuss the proposed waterworks purchase

What's the object of having this appraisal made?" he asked Council President T H Frericks

Offhand I might say it's to answer some of the questions you came down here and asked us a month ago about the value of the plant Mr Frericks answered

Then you admit when you offered $1,200,000 for the plant you didn't know anything about it"

We admit nothing

Then Dr Smith asked Do you mean to tell me that the city of Marion won't pay for this appraisal regardless of whether the water plant purchase deal goes through?" The answer was correct

Dr Smith called attention that few bonds are as good today as waterworks bonds in view of the condition of the investment market and inferred that financial concerns might be inclined to fix the valuation of the water plant higher than its actual worth Mr Frericks in answer pointed out that council can reject the appraisal figure of the engineers if it is regarded as unreasonably high or low

Calls Attention to Taxes

Dr Smith called attention to the fact that the water company now is paying $25,000 annually in taxes which would be lost if the city acquires the plant

Mr Miles representing McNent & Co accepted an invitation of Mr Frericks to discuss Dr Smith's suggestion that the company might fix a high valuation figure on the plant Mr Miles said the company he represented would not finance purchase of the plant if the city paid a price that would not amortize the mortgage bonds within the lifetime of the bonds and leave a margin of safety in the company's reserves after making allowance for extensions and replacements He explained that the large investment companies that would be in the market for the bonds would not buy them if the city paid more for the plant than it was able to amortize

Gas Rate Proposal

The proposed gas rates for Marion came before council in a report from its utility committee headed by Councilman Harry I Bell The committee with the help of City Solicitor Theodore B Ochs submitted a proposed ordinance fixing gas rates for Marion for the next five years and suggested it be adopted and offered to the company as a third and final settlement offer following a long period of negotiations

The rates call for 20 cents a hundred cubic feet for the first 500 feet five and one-half cents a hundred for the next 4,500 and [illegible] cents a hundred for all in excess of 5,000 feet with a minimum monthly charge of $1 provided for failure to pay bills within 10 days would result in a five per cent penalty which in no instance could be less than 10 cents

Under this rate 5,000 cubic feet of gas a month will cost $3.18 a month 50 cents more than under the present rate but 37 cents less than under the rate proposed for Marion by the gas company

To explain why the utility committee after lengthy study of the gas situation and numerous conferences with gas company officials recommended adoption of a higher rate for Marion City Solicitor Theodore B Ochs last night prepared a statement for the committee Excerpts from it follow

We have carefully and thoroughly gone into the valuation of the property of the gas company and after a careful computation of the net income after deducting for taxes and depreciation we find the rate which the gas company is asking the state utilities commission to approve for Marion would yield a return on the property of the gas company of about two per cent The rate the city proposes to offer would yield a return less than that percentage

It could not be expected that the utilities commission would grant a lower rate than the one the city proposes In the light of decisions of both the supreme court of Ohio and the United States supreme court, the utilities commission could not do so and be sustained in case of an appeal by the gas company, The courts have uniformly granted higher rates than those proposed by the city

It is proposed by the gas company that if a rate can be agreed upon the company will construct an additional feeder line to Marion from its main line near Green Camp whereby the city may have an abundance of gas for domestic and industrial purposes This will require an expenditure of approximately $100,000 this year and a like or greater amount next year

"It is our belief that if the proposed rate is adopted by council [illegible] the gas company [illegible] the result will be a lower rate than the city can ever hope to establish before the utilities commission [illegible] to state that Ashland Galion Mt Vernon Crestline Willard Bellevue Athens and Cardington all of which were in the Logan rate case with Marion have adopted rates comparable with the ones proposed for Marion

Red Birds Near Association First Division by Fourth Win in a Row

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 11 [illegible] Milwaukee Brewers [illegible] today were [illegible] past the [illegible] of [illegible] first four.

Manager Al [illegible] club [illegible] brilliantly after three straight defeats by Columbus received [illegible] pitching from Garland Braxton and Cris [illegible] as it swept a [illegible] yesterday from the Mud Hens, 2-0 and 7-0, and displaced Kansas City in third place.

In blanking the Hens twice Braxton and [illegible] gave up 10 hits between them, the former allowing only four in the opener and the latter yielding but six more in the nightcap. Lin Storti's homer featured a three-run Milwaukee uprising in the eighth inning of the first game while the Brewers had two big frames, the sixth and seventh—in capturing the second contest.

Ray Blades' fast traveling Columbus Red Birds continued their advance on the first division as they crushed the Kansas City Blues 15 to 4 and registered their fourth straight triumph.

Husky Nick Cullop, the Birds' veteran outfielder, was the offensive and defensive hero of the battle, contributing a homer, two doubles and a pair of singles to Columbus' 18-hit attack and making several sparkling plays afield. Bud Tinning hurled all the way for the Red Birds, limiting the heavy hitting Blues to eight scattered hits.

The Indianapolis Indians bettered slightly their second place position by taking a 7 to 1 decision from Marty McManus' St. Paul Saints. Vance Page went all the way for the Tribe while the Saints used Hunter, Grimes and Trow on the mound.

The league-leading Minneapolis Millers emerged an 11 to 6 winner over Louisville in a 29-hit swatfest. The Colonels could get only six runs out of six triples, two doubles and five singles while Manager Donie Bush's outfit made three more hits go almost twice as far. In slamming out the six three-base hits Louisville tied the Association record made Aug. 22, 1930, by St. Paul against Toledo.

Of the 24 managers piloting clubs in the three AA leagues—International, Pacific Coast and American Association—18 saw service as players in the American league.

Erie Traffic stepped out in front of Commercial League leaders and the Marion Steam Shovel players kept their hold on second place as Pollak and [illegible] yesterday's six game program of postponed city league games.

The brightest spot on Wednesday's program was the 3 to 3 deadlock which Hamburger Inn and Pollak players were unable to break in 10 innings. The game lasted more than two hours on the Lincoln park diamond.

The Railroaders had little trouble in turning back Centennial Coal 12 to 1 in a twilight affair at President field to go into the lead for honors in the Commercial League as the other top notchers, Pleasant Lutheran and K. of P., were idle. The Elks picked up their half game behind second place by winning a forfeit from the Eagles. The latter could muster but seven men when game time rolled around.

Huber Tops Diggers

Thanks to the Huber team, Silk Mill tightened its hold on first place in the Industrial league as the Steam Shovel nine lost a hectic tussle to Huber under the lights 11 to 8. The Saratoga Grill aggregation turned back its youngster team for the Westinghouse Cubs 2 to 1 in the first game of last night's twin bill.

In the other twilight game yesterday Walters and Dishonnett defeated the Axe Funeral Home team 4 to 3 after Axe threatened to win in the last frame. The winners scored all their runs in the first inning while Axe sent three across in the last before the rally was checked by a relief hurler.

Pollak players saw an early lead disappear in the sixth inning of the Hamburger Inn-Pollak game. Both sides were retired in order after the sixth frame as playing improved. Triples by Roberts of the Steelmen and Bob Reid of the Hamburger Inn crew featured in evening the count.

Roberts poled out his three-base blow in the second inning, scoring Don Lindsey, Pollak shortstop, who had reached first on an error. Roberts came home from third on Hering's fly to the outfield. Loose base running prevented the Pollak team from scoring more than one run on four hits in the next inning. Paul Lindsey singled and came home on Sheppard's double.

Primmer To Rescue

Windy Knickle drove in the first Hamburger Inn run in the third, scoring Bill Tierney, who had singled to open the frame. Reid's triple with Tierney and Mills aboard evened the score.

Reams, Walters and Dishonnett left fielder, connected with a hefty home run in the first to account for all the winners' tallies. The circuit blow came after Steinman had singled and a pass and misplay had filled the bases.

Steinman, W. & D. pitcher, weakened in the seventh inning to allow three runs before Primmer yanked the game from the fire. Two hits, a fielder's choice and two walks were bunched properly to get three runs on two hits.

Saratoga Hurler Wins Own Game

Paul Lowry, Saratoga Grill pitcher, won his own game last night under the lights at Lincoln park by driving in two runs in the first inning with a single.

Joe Robbins reached first on a walk and Bob Robbins gained the first sack by a misplay before Lowry connected. Junior Danner connected with one of Lowry's deliveries in the fourth to drive in the only Westinghouse Cub run. Pike singled to open the frame but Danner was called out for not touching home plate after his homer. Neither team was able to get a run across in the late innings although both threatened.

A letdown after scoring five runs in the first inning proved nearly disastrous for the Huber team as the Diggers rallied to take an 8 to 5 lead. Huber got to Jones and Zig Snyder for six runs in the sixth inning to win a hectic affair. Benny Crabtree was called upon to relieve Eddie Maul in the fifth when he was stricken with illness. Crabtree was ruled the winning pitcher.

A home run by Aespaugh, Steam Shovel centerfielder, on a sharp blow between McAninch's legs, and a triple featured the hitting. Two bases on balls, a fielder's choice and an error mixed with three hits to place six Huber runs in their last trip to the plate. The program last night was not finished until 11:45.

YOUTH AGAINST AGE IN WOMEN'S TOURNEY

Two 19-Year-Old Misses Meet Veteran Golfers in Ohio Event.

By The Associated Press

MAKETEWAH COUNTRY CLUB CINCINNATI O July 11 —The old adage that youth will be served was up for decision here today as the semi finals started in the Ohio Womens golf tournament

Two 19 year old girls Miss Edith Begg of the Cleveland Canterbury club and Miss Dorothy Gardner of Steubenville were stacked up against two veterans of the golfing wars one of whom wears the crown

Mrs Burt Weil of the Cincinnati Hillcrest club veteran campaigner and owner of the title faces her big test in meeting Miss Begg. Mrs Linton Fallis of Toledo Inverness who bobs her silver gray hair in coed fashion will attempt to beat back the threat of Miss Gardner. The Steubenville blonde who eliminated Sally Elson champion of Columbus in the lone first round upset almost met her Waterloo in the second round yesterday in Mrs Charles Harbough of the Cleveland Manakiki club but finally won out on the 19th hole

Mrs Weil eliminated Miss Janet Shock Daytons sensational 16 year old school girl in a 3 and match yesterday but faces a tougher task today in meeting the long driving and accurate putting Miss Begg

FORMER NET STAR SEES TITLE FOR U. S.

Little Bill Johnston Predicts Americans Will Win Davis Cup

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO July 11—William M (Little Bill) Johnston mighty mite of tennis in the days when the United States ruled supreme in Davis Cup play peered into the future today and saw hopeful signs for Uncle Sam in the matter of international competition

At the same time the crystal ball told Johnston that Helen Wills Moody will make it a double over Helen Jacobs if and when the two stars match shots in the American championships at Forest Hills N Y

Well win back the Davis cup and young Don Budge will be the motivating force in the big drive predicted the wiry little man who teamed up with Big Bill Tilden 15 years ago to break Australia's grip on the tennis world

If we dont win this year we should by 1937 at least, declared Johnston. Our present team has a fair chance despite the presence of Fred Perry in the English line up. England of course is the undeniable favorite Perry is the greatest player in the world today. He should win two singles matches

But Budge should repeat his Wimbledon triumph over Bunny Austin and either Sydney Wood or Wilmer Allison might beat Austin. That would leave it up to the doubles match and there is always the possibility our team might produce a flawless game or catch the opposing combination on an off day

HIGHER FINANCE

Ashtabula Boy Gets Around Sales Tax Law

By United Press

ASHTABULA O A five year old Ashtabula boy has the retail sales tax on the spot

He walked into a store with a playmate and asked about ice cream cones. He held a shiny dime

There'll be one penny tax on those smiled the storekeeper anxious to see if the young man could solve the problem

The boy fished in his pants pocket. No penny. He turned to his friend

You got a penny? he asked

Nope said his pal

The possessor of the dime shifted from one foot to the other frowning. Then his face brightened

Say have you got two nickels he asked the store keeper

Sure he said changing the dime

The young master of finance handed one nickel to his friend

You buy your own cone he ordered thus making the two purchases exempt from the sales tax

ENGLAND BUILDS AIR DEFENSE WITH BOATS

New Motor Craft Tested by Hubert Scott Paine Noted Racing Ace

By International News Service

LONDON Coastal fleets of small high powered motorcraft are best methods of defense against enemy aircraft in the opinion of Hubert Scott Paine motorboat racing ace who recently competed in the U S

Four ten of them could be built and equipped for the price of one destroyer he says. These small boats would be equipped with machine guns and anti aircraft guns and because of their speed they would be particularly dangerous against submarines

At the British Power Boat Works Hythe Scott Paine is continually experimenting designing and building high speed craft of various types which he believes will pave the way towards a mile a minute navy. Other designers also are at work in a similar direction. The late C I T E Lawrence tested some of these craft

I am convinced that the present type of war vessel would not be able to operate in closed waters (such as the Channel) without the airplane taking command of the position Scott Paine says

Instead I we should develop 60 m p h motorboats with an 800 mile fuel range

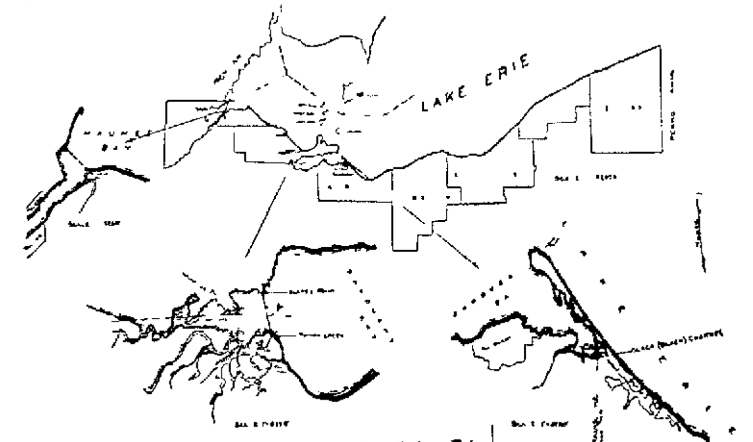
I visualize that all coastwise traffic and closed water operations will be taken care of by mosquito craft manned by a small personnel thus avoiding the risk of sending out costly ships with big personnel

Fleets of these small high powered motor craft could be built at a moderate cost and would offer practically no target to enemy air craft

PARACHUTE RADIOS

MOSCOW — A tiny radio telephone by which a parachute jumper falling through the air can converse with the ground has just been tested here. If it proves satisfactory after a final checkup it will be used in the instruction of novice para chute jumpers who will be given lessons in manipulation of their chutes while they actually use them

MAP OUTLINES LAKE ERIE FISHING DISTRICT OF OHIO



To answer inquiries that come from many perplexed fishermen the Division of Conservation has made available the above map showing the Lake Erie fishing district of Ohio. There are two fishing districts — the Lake Erie fishing district and the Inland fishing district governed by a different code of fishing laws

Section 1411 of the General Code defines the two districts as follows

The waters of Lake Erie the waters of Sandusky bay as far west as a straight line drawn from the mouth of Tommy creek to Slates point and as far east as one fourth of a mile from the mouth of Clack (Black) channel and the waters of Maumee bay up to a point north of Toledo commonly known as Presque Isle are in and shall be known as the Lake Erie fishing district. (Above named points shown on the map)

All other waters over which the State of Ohio has jurisdiction whether lakes rivers creeks or reservoirs or whether natural or artificial including East Harbor West Harbor Middle Harbor in Ottawa county and the waters of Ten-Mile creek lying within this State are in and shall be known as the Inland fishing district.

By referring to copies of the game laws fishermen can now determine what seasons size limits and bag limits apply in the two districts

FOE OF HIGH COURT RULING GETS AN "A"

By United Press

COLUMBUS O — Abe Gertner, law student at Ohio State university, and Capitol press room assistant, has made an interesting discovery—you can disagree with the United States supreme court and still get an "A" grade.

On the very day the supreme court ruled the NRA was unconstitutional, Gertner took an examination at the university. In the test he held the NRA was constitutional.

Prof. Clarence Laylin gave Gertner an "A" grade. He also gave such a grade to Roger F. Brennan, whose paper declared the law unconstitutional.

"They both wrote good papers even if they did disagree, and it's conceivable that another group of judges on the supreme court might have decided differently," Prof Laylin said
